"I WOULD RATHER BE RIGHT THAN BE PRESIDENT."—Henry Clay.

VOL. II. RALEIGH, TUESDAY EVENING, FEBRUARY 12, 1867. NO. 159.

[From the New York World.]

The New Reconstruction Bill---Does It Mean What it Seems!

The bill for remanding the South to martial law, and releasing General Grant from his military subordination to the President, aims at something different from what appears on its face. It is not possible that men of ordinary discernment should pass it with the expectation that it can be executed. It aims to repeal that part of the Constitution which declares the President Commander in-Chief of the Army, and that part of it which forbids the habeas corpus to be suspended except in times of rebellion or invasion. To expect the Supreme Court to uphold a law repealing certain portions of the Constitution, is preposterous. The suddenness with which this bill has been sprung upon the country, as well as the crudeness of its provisions, indicate that it is an impromptu manœuvre to meet an unexpected emergency.

There is no evidence that the idea of this bill occurred to anybody until after the Southern gentlemen, who came to Washington to consult the President, had digested the plan which the South is about to propose as a compromise.—That plan was intended to be kept secret until some Southern State had acted upon it; but its premature disclosure in a Richmond paper, put the Radical Congressmen in possession of it, and they immediately set their wits at work to head it off. The new bill has been begotten and born since the Southern plan came out. It takes everybody by surprise, not because the secret of the Reconstruction Committee was well kept, but because the conception of the bill preceded its birth, by so short an interval, that there was no secret to keep. It is the fruit of a hard strain suddenly put upon the ingenuity of the Radicals.

The reason why the Southern movement carries consternation into the Republican camp is, that it bids fair to frustrate their purpose of postponing restoration until after the Presidential election. It will be carried into the elections of this year as a test question. If the Republican party oppose it, they will be defeated, and the way be opened for their easy overthrow in the Presidential contest. They are estopped from opposing it with any effect before the people. They must promptly circumvent it by a coup de main or fall before it. The Southern plan runs so closely parallel to the constitutional amendment, which the Republican party have in so many forms indorsed, that the honest men of their party cannot be brought to oppose it. It differs from the Republican amendment by omission, only in failing to distranchise the Southern leaders—a point having no effect on any permanent policy, and which is treated as transient and subordinate in the amendment itself, the disability being removable at any time by a two-thirds vote of Congress. As an offset and compensation, the Southern plan proposes to bestow impartial suffrage, irrespective of color, the same property or educational qualification being required alike of all. With what face can the Republicans oppose this offer?—Their leaders have a face to do anything, but they cannot carry with them the honest masses whom they have taught to approve of the Constitutional amendment. On every stump and in every political conversation, the Republican leaders will be challenged to state why they reject what is substantially their own plan.—They will be required to explain why they denounce this year what they lauded to the skies last. It will be perpetually thrust into their faces, that they are willing to keep the Union dissolved, for what they themselves confessed was a temporary and minor consideration, and this too, when that slight change is compensated by the great concession of impartial suffrage. If there is any honesty or fairness remaining among men, the Republican leaders cannot carry the people with them, in rejecting the very terms of restoration which they themselves proposed.

It is this quick perception of the bearing of the Southern plan, and of the infinite embarrassment it must cause them, if it gets fairly presented, that has precipitated them into the clumsy manœuvre of putting the South under martial law. This is their mode of making an official declaration that the South has no State governments. The Southern plan is to be proposed through the Southern State Legislatures, in the regular form of applying for an amendment to the Constitution. An amendment which those States applying for, they will be pledged to ratify; thus putting the feasibility of this plan of restoration beyond question. Differing from the Republican amendment but little in substance, it will differ from it entirely in being practicable. For Congress to pass an immediate resolution declaring that there are no State Legislatures in the South, through which such a plan can be proposed, would be a little too barefaced; and so they have hatched this crude and blundering bill, which enables them to make the declaration with a different ostensible aim. The bill is a proof of their alarm at the new plan, and is designed to head it off by disputing the competency of the Legislatures that are to propose it. Congress will then affect to treat the Southern plan as the irresponsible proposing of usurping bodies of rebels, of which our government can no more take cognizance, than it could have held intercourse with the rebel Congress during the war. That this is the dodge which is masked under their absurb bill, we have no doubt.

Martial law can be justified only by some urgent, overpowering necessity; but there is no emergency in the South calling for this extreme measure. It is not intended for the protection of the white inhabitants, and the blacks have all the protection which any legislation can give them, in the comprehensive and stringent Civil Rights bill passed at the last session. Being called for by no necessity, pretending to aim at things for which the amplest legislative provision has already been made, the bill is a false pretence to cover a fraudulent design. If the Southern plan can be got fairly before the country, it will be adopted, and the immediate restoration of the Union which would thereupon follow, would bring into the Presidential contest seventy electoral votes to be cast against the Republicans. Hence this violent effort to strangle the Southern compromise in its birth.

OBJECTION 1.

I'M TOO POOR; I CAN'T AFFORD IT.

ANSWER.

If you are too poor to save less than half a dollar per week, at from 30 to 35 years of age, or proportionately at other ages, and find it so difficult to do so—should you be taken away by death, how bitterly poverty will strike home to your widow and children, or those dependent on you! Is it not worth a struggle to avoid this, and give them at least $1,000 by paying so small a sum? It costs just $2,00 per month to insure $1,000 at the age of 32 years.

OBJECTION 2.

I've talked to several of my friends, and they all advise me to have nothing to do with it.

ANSWER.

Will your friends undertake to provide for those you leave behind, in case you do not live long enough to save money? Ask them, and be guided by their answer.

OBJECTION 3.

I can't make up my mind; call again.

ANSWER.

Your other objections have been answered. I appeal to your own common sense to answer this for yourself, aided by

THREE PRACTICAL REFLECTIONS.

FIRST.—Nothing is so uncertain as Life.
SECOND.—No provision is perfect that is contingent upon the duration of your Life, which is not immediate.

The Fall Session of this Institution closed 23rd. day of December. The Spring Session opened the 1st. Wednesday in January, and will continue 20 weeks.

The success of this school has been without a parallel. A new building has just been completed, by which a large additional number can be accommodated. We are determined to make our pupils as comfortable as they can be made anywhere, and to afford them all the advantage for a thorough and extensive education, that can be found at any First class Female College, North or South.

The location is a most delightful one. The Mineral Water is too well known to the whole country to need a remark. Even invalid young ladies may secure a thorough education, and at the same time the restoration of their health. Reference is made to every intelligent Physician in the State, as well as to the hundreds who have found relief here.

The young ladies all worship in the College Chapel, and hence go extra clothing is required. In the simple item of dress parents can save 25 per cent, of the entire expense incurred by sending to Boarding Schools located in cities or villages. This Institution is certainly one of the cheapest and most easy of access in the Southern States. Besides, it offers the most superior advantages in every respect.

A PROPOSITION.

IN WHICH YOU ARE INTERESTED.

I PROPOSE for the protection of the citizens of Raleigh and surrounding country, against the imposition of those so-called Cost Stores, to furnish each and every person, the New York Cost of any goods they may want to buy; by this means they can tell whether they are buying goods at Cost or paying a profit on them.

Call before going to any of those Cost Stores so-called, and let me give you a memorandum of Cost prices.

Most of my large stock I will sell at cost but I have goods that I will not sell in that way, and neither will those merchants who make such a flourish about selling at Cost.

No merchant in this place has purchased his Goods any cheaper than I bought mine. Any assertion to the contrary is false; and I will guarantee to sell Goods as low as any Cost House. All I ask is an opportunity to prove the truthfulness of this assertion.

AN INVALUABLE DISCOVERY,

BY WHICH

Water can be Turned into Money.

Truly has it been said, "That the riches of this world, lie buried in the bowels of the earth." The precious metals that are daily taken from thence, readily procure all the luxuries and comforts—save, the great boon to the sick, Health—without which, life is a burden, and the millions of the Rothchilds' would fail to secure.

To females suffering from Leucorrhœa, (or Whites, as it is commonly called,) I, as a Physician of many years experience, would say, that you need not longer endure a miserable life of pains, aches and general debility, or weakness, the consequence of this deplorable disease.

All Physicians, of modern teaching, will admit the great difficulties in arresting this destroyer of health, for various reasons unnecessary to mention. Patients suffering therefrom will as readily agree, that medicines, however carefully prepared and used fail, in most instances, to afford relief; and in many, from long continuance, produce debility, thereby increasing the malady they were expected to relieve.

Deeming it a great privilege to be a public benefactor, and add to the comforts of the afflicted, by placing before them means of relief, I here give the history of a few cases of great interest that have fallen under my professional care.

Mrs.———, a lady of the highest standing in the city of Charlotte, N. C., had been an incessant sufferer from Leucorrhœa for three years. Her cheeks were blanched, her skin always cold and almost transparent—in fact she seemed not to have a red corpuscle in her body. So weak was she, that it was with great difficulty she could ascend a flight of stairs, without feeling faint and exhausted. Palpitation of the heart, head-ache, and a dizziness in the head, besides excruciating pains in the back, together with a bearing-down sensation in the region of the womb, were constant and alarming. Notwithstanding they were but symptoms of extreme debility, induced or kept up by the never ceasing drain from her system. In this condition, every means at my command was used for her relief. Remedy after remedy was tried. Every means recommended by our modern authors proved worthless in her case. Hearing of the case of a servant, whom I had formerly treated, (belonging to Mr. Cross,) having been very much benefitted by this mineral water, I resolved, (without further inquiry,) as the last resort, to recommend to her its use. Anxious to be restored once more to health, she readily acceded to my proposition, and visited this well daily. Soon improvement was visible, and in the short space of three months her health was entirely restored. A living monument to the great curative virtues of this water.

The next case of great interest is that of the servant woman already spoken of. Seven years previous to the discovery of this well, Mr. Cross engaged my services in the care of this woman. I made most careful examination and searched out all of the particulars of her history. She had suffered for 18 years with Leucorrhœa, and being sorely afflicted therefrom, it was universally known in our community, that she was the quality of the town. I found her with all of the distressing symptoms attending this malady, and could only afford her temporary relief. Time passed on, and still her afflictions did not abate. She abandoned all hope of recovery, and resolved to take no medicines, but to resign herself to the fate which seemed to await her. Her master just then having discovered this well, advised that she should drink freely of the water, as it might be of some benefit to her. Like a drowning man catching at straw, she tried it, and improvement was soon perceptible. Perseverance was crowned with success, and this day she is a strong and healthy woman, and can be seen at the residence of her former master, and will take great pleasure in relating, in detail, to any visitors, the history of her case.

Many other cases known to us, of equal interest, have been cured, and others are being daily benefitted.

It is to be regretted that the pecuniary embarrassments incident to the late war precludes the idea, of Mr. Cross' fitting up this valuable property, as a resort for invalids. Under these circumstances, the owner (Mr. George Cross, of Charlotte, N. C.,) is willing to dispose of his property at the very reasonable price of $10,000 in U. S. currency, and will communicate with any one either by letter or personally.

The plantation of 100 acres of fine and productive land is situated within one and a half miles of the city of Charlotte, N. C., immediately on the Wilmington, Charlotte and Rutherford Railroad. A fine residence, with modern improvements and conveniences, together with all necessary buildings attached, have just been completed, and to capitalists seeking investments no finer inducements could be offered.

THE SENTINEL.

W. W. PEEBLES, SEATON GALES, Editors.

Tuesday Evening, Feb. 12, 1867.

The State Revenue.

The Revenue bill as prepared by the Public Treasurer, seems not to be understood. It is based upon the just principle, that all property which constitutes one's means of living and becoming rich, should be taxed according to its value, i. e. ad valorem, and that a man's income over and above the expense of making it, should be taxed, in consideration of the protection the government affords it. Articles of luxury or which are not strictly necessary, are taxed specifically.

By increasing largely the subjects of taxation which he deems to be proper subjects of it, the Public Treasurer, has fixed a smaller tax upon property than heretofore. Negroes being also the subjects of taxation now, on their own account, a very small poll tax has been fixed.—Those who have studied the subject of taxation but little, looking simply at the large increase of the subjects of taxation, very generally conclude that the taxes are to be very heavy on the people, and will produce a very large surplus over and above the necessities of the State.

If we mistake not, Mr. Logan, of the House, and others, seem to anticipate a large surplus, taking it for granted without careful investigation, that the tax laid is a very high one. Our own convictions have been, that a smaller tax has not been laid upon property for many years, if ever, and so of the poll tax, and so far from the revenue bill providing a large surplus, we hope after the Legislature is done with it, that it will produce enough.

We observe, that a paper in this city also falls into several errors in regard to the surplus in the Treasury. If the crop during the present year should not be very good, and if the Legislature should materially reduce either the subjects of taxation or the tax laid, the condition of the Treasury would, we fear, be lean indeed.

The errors in the calculations proceed from ignorance of the proper management of the Treasury. The Public Treasurer makes his estimates with the view of using the taxes which are paid one year, to meet the expenses of the following year. Overlooking this, the estimated receipts are added to the taxes which will be paid in the winter of 1868. How then could the expenses of 1869 be met? It is held that the taxes paid in the fall and winter of 1868, should be applied to the expenses of the year preceding, and thus such persons are misled, by taking three taxes in two fiscal years, i. e. to defray the expenses of the two years ending September 30, 1868, they would apply the taxes paid in the winters of 1866, '67 and '68. Where then, would be the money to pay the expenses of 1868-'69?

Now it so happens that the Revenue bill was framed to raise a surplus only of about $200,000 for two years or $100,000 per annum. This was done, believing, as always has been done, that the General Assembly would strike out some items in the bill, and also would make appropriations which would bring the surplus down to almost nothing. Both of these anticipations have already been realized, and the probability is, when completed, will not leave in the Treasury, a working surplus.

The Stay Law.

The passage of the Stay Law by the Legislature will be hailed over the State as a relief measure. We of course sympathize with any plan, which gives the people even momentary cause of joy, or affords them momentary relief. It is some relief to the feelings of debtors, crushed and oppressed as they are in spirit by the calamities which have overwhelmed them, to feel that the evil day, the day which shall make them poor, has been put off even a year. But how can the present Stay Law be made even a present relief? It only defers payment, but does not cancel their debts. Can there be any real relief, any proper fraternal feeling, such as ought to exist in every community, until all judgments and executions for debt, are satisfied? Absolute necessity, created by the previous one and the Convention Stay Law, have forced three fourths of the creditors of the State to bring suit. So long as those suits remain unsatisfied on the docket, no real, good feeling can exist between debtor and creditor. No matter how justifiable the creditor may be in bringing suit, the debtor, at least most debtors, will feel that the creditor might have been more lenient, forgetting that one hard-hearted creditor forced twenty who might have delayed, to commence suit.

Moreover, much of the ill-feeling existing between debtor and creditor, we are sorry to see, is being transferred to attorneys who are employed to prosecute. Men ought not to be blamed for pursuing their vocation, yet human nature is so depraved, that no one can in any wise connect himself with what a man thinks injures him, without gaining his displeasure. The wrong of this is apparent, yet it is human nature.—Under these circumstances, it is certainly bad policy for any one to attempt to defeat the expectations of the people created by this bill.—Better bear the evils we suffer than fly to those we know not of.

But unless the people to go work at once to meet the payment in advance of the amount which will be due in 1868, they will find, that this bill affords no relief. It will not and is not intended to afford relief to any, who have means and who are determined not to pay. To such, it is not in the power of the Legislature to afford relief. It cannot pass any law, which interferes with the validity of private contracts or which jeopards the private interests of individuals—hence all stay laws or others which do this, are unconstitutional.

The only real good which the Legislature can do the people in our judgment, is to adopt some law or plan to encourage the immediate settlement of their debts by a compromise with their creditors. The sooner this is done, the better.

Reconstruction, in order to be of any advantage to the country, must be made to secure the government and the people against rebel hope, rebel ambition, and Confederate insurrection, and not to pander to their desires. It makes no difference whether rebels are pleased or displeased. Their consent is not essential, and their approval marks any scheme as dangerous.

The above from the Union Register at Greensboro', though calmly written, indicates a prejudice and a bitterness of heart, which we did not expect. We submit, the surroundings and the sources of information possessed by the Register, have been precisely such as are possessed by thousands of honest, yet bitter Radicals at the North. To this day, they are totally ignorant or biased by unfounded statements of bitter factionists, in regard to the hopes, the sentiments and the ambition of "rebels." Hence the illiberal and unkind and reckless remark, "it makes no difference whether rebels are pleased or displeased." Now, we challenge and defy the Register, truthfully to put its finger upon a single "rebel" in North Carolina, and prove its assertion at the same time, who has any "hope" or "ambition," to effect "Confederate resurrection." If there is such a man in North Carolina, we have not seen or heard of him. Men sometimes goaded and worried by radical invective, and what seemed to be a merciless vindictiveness towards the South, by radical Congressmen and others, may have returned railing for railing, and spoken as passion dictates; but we challenge the Register to point out any respectable person, who it still unkindly and unlawfully (at least since his pardon) chooses to call "rebel," who does not now desire, really and truly, a "reconstruction" of the Union on the basis of the Constitution of the United States.

But does the Register desire the reconstruction of the Union? Does it not desire, and is not its party seeking the destruction of the government of our fathers, and the inauguration of a new government, destructive of the rights and behests of civil liberty? Are they not seeking a different Union?

In the anxiety of the Register to place the Southern States under the rule of what it calls loyal men, is it aware that it is laboring to place them in the hands of the worst men in the South? Is it aware that those who claim to be "Southern loyalists," par excellence, at least the leaders of them, are bankrupt in political and moral character? How will it administer the government, if it excludes those it classes among rebels? It will be found to be impossible.

MR. PEABODY.—The tender of a princely donation for the promotion of education in the South, by Mr. George Peabody, the princely American merchant of England, occasions no little interest. A majority of the Trustees, or gentlemen whom Mr. Peabody entrusts with the management of the donation, being in Washington, Hon. R. C. Winthrop, the first named in the list, called them together, who organized and accepted the trust, and adopted highly proper resolutions of thanks to the donor. Hon. W. A. Graham, of this State, was necessarily absent, but will, no doubt, consent to co-operate with the other members of the Board.

STEVENS' BILL AND THE PLAN OF ADJUSTMENT.—We call the attention of the reader to an article from the New York World on this subject, on the first page. The sources of information possessed by that paper, and its ability, make anything from that source, on that subject, worthy of attention.

The patience of this great, free people is sublime. They will bear much abuse of power, much neglect of duty, especially when committed in the name of liberty. But they will not submit to a military despotism, though intended for "rebels." They will not permit the great safeguards of the Constitution to be stricken down in the midst of peace, and when the last armed foe has for two years grounded his musket. And they will not much longer permit the enmities of self-seeking politicians to keep separate two great sections of our common country. The fraternal feeling of this now speciously divided nation must be speedily restored, either by the action of Congress or in spite of it.—Nat. Int.

THE INTELLIGENCER commemorates this morning two noble records—that of the great contest in the House of Representatives, which triumphantly vindicated the people against a military despotism; and that of the princely liberality of an American citizen, who, forgetting the strife that has torn our land, would bless the impoverished South with his benefactions, and unite our common country by another glorious memory, in which every American citizen take an honest pride.—*Nat. For the Sentinel.

RALEIGH, N. C., Feb. 9th, 1867.

MR. EDITOR.—Happening to be in the city on Friday last, and not have anything specially to occupy my time, I wandered into the Senate Chamber, during the discussion of the bill to afford relief to the people, and heard the Senator from the 1st district pay the following just and handsome compliment to that venerable man, the true, well-tried and faithful public servant, the Senator from the county of Warren, F. N. Thornton. Dr. Speed said, Mr. Speaker, I cannot withhold from the venerable gentleman, the Senator from the county of Warren, my warm, heartfelt thanks, for the just, able and eloquent remarks which he has just submitted to the Senate, in behalf of the down-trodden, patient and suffering people of the State. Sir, on my own account, and in behalf of my constituents, I tender him hearty thanks, for his sentiments, so well, so beautifully and forcibly expressed. Sir, they will touch a responsive chord in the heart of every right thinking man in this great State. They will fly with electric speed from the utmost limits of the East, where the dark rolling Atlantic beats its oft recuring, ever repeating waves, as their phosphonescent crests flicker in the brightness of the rising sun light, against the sand bound shores of Currituck, through the length and breadth of this great Commonwealth reverberating and resounding amid the mountain gorges, as it hastens on to meet a responsive thrill in the county of Cherokee, where the proud bird of liberty, sits in majesty, upon the pinnacle of some sturdy oak, which has been shivered by the desolating blast, as it swept over the State, and died of its wounds; surveying the misery, poverty, and ruin that surrounds him. Sir, to have the countenance, encouragement and support of that venerable man, cheers my heart and nerves my soul, to press forward to the consummation of the great purpose for which my constituents sent me to this General Assembly: "the relief of the people." Sir, he is venerable for years, distinguished for learning, and prominent for sound conservative principles and high regard for constitutional guarantees and the rights of the people. The Senate will pardon me, I hope, for saying to it collectively and to Senators individually, that such an example may well arrest their attention and receive their earnest consideration, if not, their concurrence and imitation.

"ONE OF THE PEOPLE."

The Reconstruction Debate.

The great question of reconstruction was further discussed in the House yesterday, and the ultrarists were decidededly foiled in their purposes. Mr. Stevens had announced his intention to close the debate at two o'clock, but the hour was allowed to glide by in a succession of animated speeches. Mr. Shanklin, of Kentucky, holding the floor from the evening previous, made a strong argument against the bill, and was followed in succession by Messrs. Thayer, Harding, Shellabarger, Hotchkiss, Griswold, Raymond and Garfield. At the close of Mr. Garfield's remarks, Mr. Stevens, having previously notified the Chair, demanded the previous question, amidst the manifest interest of the entire body. Several gentlemen appealed to him not to press the demand. General Banks got his permission to make a suggestion, and, amid profound silence, urged the gentleman from Pennsylvania to permit the debate to go on, because he believed that if protracted for a day or two, it would be possible for the House to come to such an understanding as would harmonize the country, and perhaps secure the co-operation of the President of the United States; or, at least, it not, unite the public judgment so strongly against him as to compel a withdrawal of all opposition on his part.

As we have said, the suggestion was heard in profound quiet, almost every member on his feet. He was followed by Mr. Eldrige, of Wisconsin, from the other side, who appealed to the gentleman from Pennsylvania to allow the Democrats, who wished to go on the record in protest against the bill—which was bound to pass, he apprehended—the poor boon of being heard. The veteran "leader of the House" heard each appeal erect, impassive, save when a derisive smile flitted over his sardonic features at the allusion to the co-operation of the President. The members were clustered around and near him, many with appealing looks.—His tones were slightly sarcastic as he referred to the secret negotiations of which the gentleman from Massachusetts had the advantage, which, not having, he could not act upon; but they grew bitter as, declining the request of Mr. Eldridge, he said he was not so sure of the passage of the bill, and was keenly sarcastic when commenting on the demoralization of his party friends, who had defeated the former civil bill, which was sent "to the tomb of the Capulets." But he sternly refused to yield, and insisted on the demand for the previous question. General Banks was permitted to make a further explanation, and the division was taken, resulting in a defeat of the "Great Commoner" by 61 to 92. The long strain on the House was relaxed and a universal hubbub began, through which it was at first difficult for Mr. Kasson, of Iowa, to make himself heard, respecting his ingenious dodge of passing the bill as a rule of the army, under the provision authorizing rules concerning the land and naval forces of the United States. —National Intelligencer of the 9th.

REMARKS OF MR. PEEBLES,

OF NORTHAMPTON,

IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS, IN SUPPORT OF AN AMENDMENT, OFFERED BY HIMSELF, TO THE BILL CHANGING THE CONVENTION STAY LAW, SATURDAY, FEB. 9TH.

Mr. Speaker:—We regret that there is a determination to force this bill through without a fair test of its merits. We recognize both the necessity and justice of relief for the debtor portion of our people, and are willing to give them twelve months longer to prepare to meet their first payments; but in return for this indulgence, we think it is just and right that the debtor should give the creditor some guarantee that at the expiration of said indulgence, his property will be responsible for his debts. To accomplish this end, we have introduced the amendment that is before the House. It is not our wish, nor does this amendment propose, to restrain a debtor in the free use of his property. It only declares that he shall not prefer one creditor to another, during the time the Courts are not permitted to hear and determine actions of debt.

If the merits of the amendment rested solely on its equity and justice, we cannot understand how it could be opposed by any one, who is not willing to legislate with a view to encourage and promote dishonesty. But when we take into consideration the fact that it is necessary to secure the relief contemplated by the bill, it is surpassingly strange that any true friend of relief should oppose its adoption. That it is necessary to secure the end contemplated by the bill, is plain to every one, who has devoted that time and attention to the subject which its importance demands. For after all, if the bill passes and becomes a law, its stability must depend entirely on the acquiescence of creditors. It will be nothing more nor less than a law at the sufferance of creditors. To sustain this position we read from Judge Story's commentaries on the Constitution, page 250, book III, chapter 34, from the decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States, in McCracken vs. Hayward, 2 How. page 612, and in Quackenbush vs. Banks, 1 Denio page 130. If there is any one who is not convinced by these authorities, we direct his attention to the decision of the Supreme Court of N. C., in Crittenden vs. Crittenden, and to a large number of other cases which may be found in the Supreme Court Reports of the U. S., by Howard, Denio, Wheaton and by Cranch.

We too have paid some attention to this subject, as well as the member from Anson, but we have not relied upon our own internal convictions nor the irresponsible opinions of this or that lawyer, but have taken the trouble to examine the authorities on the subject, and from the highest tribunal known to the Constitution, have cited decisions which prove beyond the shadow of a doubt, that the bill if passed, will be unconstitutional, and must therefore continue only by permission of creditors. Is it not then the duty of the friends of relief (among whom we can justly be numbered) to make some provision in this bill for the protection of the rights of creditors, to let them know that they are not forgotten, to satisfy them that this is not repudiation in disguise, so that, without doing injustice to themselves and families, they can acquiesce in the further postponement of the collection of debts, with some assurance that at the end of the twelve months, the property of their debtors will be bound for their debts. This is one of the leading objects contemplated by the amendment. We wish to bring about a friendly feeling of confidence between the creditor and debtor, which will induce the former to grant the latter the indulgence contemplated in the bill.

Another object of the amendment is to do justice to creditors. We are not here to represent a particular class, but the whole people at large, and we can not give our support to any measure which is intended to favor one class to the injury of another.

The subject of relief is an intricate and difficult one, and in dealing with it we should be careful, lest in our efforts to flee from the evils that are upon us, we fall into greater and more onerous ones. When our people are crying for a fish, we should be careful not to give them a stone. It is our honest conviction that the bill as it stands, will not afford the relief intended, and we want it remembered that we here predict, if the bill passes without the amendment, that in less than twelve months it will be declared unconstitutional, and every barrier to the collection of debt will be thereby swept away, and our poor, unfortunate debtors will be at the mercy of the Shylocks of the country, who will revel in ease and luxury, while debtors and indulgent creditors will grope in poverty and want. We repeat what we have often declared, that we are willing and anxious to afford the people every substantial means of relief in our power, but we cannot give our support to any measure which offers the shadow without the substance of relief, or which gives indulgence to the debtor without affording protection to the creditor.

Foreign Opinion.

The Courrier des Etats Unis, the French paper in New York, after giving a summary of Mr. Stevens's military bill, delivers the subjoined judgment of it. The opinion of an enlightened foreigner partakes somewhat of impartiality, and sounds like the voice of posterity;

"Such is the absurd legislation prepared by the chief of the Radical party. It is useless to discuss it; it is enough to make public such impracticable measure, which breathe only the accents of wrath, of vengeance and passion, and which, it is to be hoped, will be speedily repudiated by the general reprobation.

THERE are sixty-one men in the House of Representatives who are willing that half their country-men shall hold their liberties at the will of a brigadier general of the army. Are they willing to hold their liberties by the permit of a military commander? If they are, they are fit to be slaves, and unfit for the high duty of an American Representative. If they are not, with what justice can they claim to be true Democrats or honest Republicans, who would impose an arbitrary authority on their country-man to which they themselves are unwilling to submit?—Nat. Intel.

THE SENTINEL.

Tuesday Evening, Feb. 12, 1867.

LOCAL DEPARTMENT.

RALEIGH FACTORY.—We are pleased to announce, that on yesterday, 22 boxes of the machinery for the Raleigh Manufacturing Company, arrived. The Company purchased the property of the Gorgas Mining Company, which, however, has been erroneously claimed by the government as the property of the Confederacy. It is hoped, however, that it will be surrendered in a few days. The Company are now spinning fine threads at their Orange Mills, for their looms in this city, which will now be put up as soon as the premises are secured.

N. C. R. R. DEPOT.—We are pleased to learn that the North Carolina R. R. Company has ordered the repair and fitting up of the Depot building in this city, which was burned by Wheeler's cavalry. The object is to fit it up for the accommodation of passengers, with a ladies and gentlemen's parlor and eating saloon. The work is being done under the superintendance of Capt. J. E. Allen, under the direction of Mr. Webb, the President of the N. C. R. R., and is being done at the expense of both the N. C. and Raleigh and Gaston R. Roads, and for the benefit of both.

REPLY.—The second article of Gen. Barringer in reply to Mr. Turner's speech will appear to-morrow. The conclusion will appear next day if received in time.

COLORED REGIMENT.—The colored regiment, which has been here for some weeks, has been disbanded and paid off, we learn. Most of them were raised in the Eastern part of the State. We learn various persons have attempted to employ them as laborers, and also that there is an army recruiting officer here proposing to them to re-enlist. We have not heard with what success either have met. Many of them have left wives and children in the Eastern counties who need their help.

HORRIBLE.—The horrible account given by our correspondent "Vindicator," will be read with a shudder. The facts are too well authenticated to be doubted, and yet they are so revolting as to make one hope that they are not true. The developements of a few years, will, we fear demonstrate extensively the conclusion to which "Vindicator" comes.

Most Fiendish Murder.

LOUISBURG, N. C., Feb. 8, 1867.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—As a sign of the times, I send you an account of a murder committed in this county on the night of the 21st (Sunday) ult. Mary and Becky Jane Collins, freed women, mother and daughter, the former about 50 years and the latter 30 years of age, were living in the yard of a widow lady, though not employed by her. Becky had two small children, and a boy four years old named Jerry, the son of her deceased sister, and grandson of Mary. On the night of the murder, a boy eight years old, son of Becky, and who is bound to Mr. Joseph Murray, stayed with his mother.—He states that in the night, his mother and grandmother shut Jerry out of doors, that they then tore to pieces an old bedstead which had belonged to Jerry's mother, and carried it out doors, with all of Jerry's mother's clothes and bed-clothes, and made of them a fire at the corner of the chimney. They, then caught Jerry and after cutting him with an ax, making a frightful wound on his neck, pushed him into the large fire. He screamed and jumped out several times, and they as often pushed him back, until he was dead. They continued burning him until all was consumed except two small plates of the scull, a few remains of bones, and some of the intestines. Mr. Joseph Murray was there on Monday morning, when Becky told him that she had killed the devil—that Margaret (Jerry's mother) had come back and stuck her claws in Jerry and made him a devil, and she and her mother had killed him. She, evidently, was feigning insanity and made a great many simple and foolish remarks. Mary made no such attempt, but confessed that she made the fire and that Becky burnt the child. The widow lady did not remain at home that night, but she says these two women had for the last twelve months treated Jerry very cruelly. Both the women are now in jail awaiting trial.

Would not the negro soon become barbarous if left to himself? Is he worthy of being made "equal" with the white man? What laws, what morals, what government would he have?

Respectfully,

VINDICATOR.

For the Sentinel.

WILSON, Feb. 12.

Messrs. Editors:—As you know, I have been to the "City of Oaks," and I am gratified to inform you that I am now at home, with no bones broken, and in good condition.

On my way home I stopped in Goldsboro', and having nothing to do, I visited the Female College, located at that place. This College is under the management of Rev. S. M. Frost, assisted by an able corps of teachers. There are now between 70 and 80 young ladies receiving instruction. The health of the school is fine, and the instruction thorough, the government mild and parental. It will be seen by referring to the advertisement in the SENTINEL, that this is one of the cheapest schools in the State, of the same grade. Parents and guardians cannot, in my judgment, do better with their children and wards, than to send them to the Goldsboro' Female College.

The good people of Wilson were somewhat alarmed last night, by a serious row between some drunken negroes and white men. One of the white men, a Mr. Pate, it is feared is mortally wounded, and several negroes slightly hurt. The white man was shot by one of his own party, through mistake. Several of the negroes have been arrested and are now in jail.

Yours,

WILLIE.

TELEGRAPHIC.

Our Tuesday Morning Dispatches.

Congress.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.

HOUSE.—Mr. Elliott reported on the New Orleans riot.

Mr. Bayer submitted a minority report.

Mr. Elliott reported a bill re-establishing the State of Louisiana, and moved the previous question on the bill which was seconded by the House. The yeas and nays being ordered by a vote of 79 to 70, several fillibustering motions followed.

Mr. Elliot expressed a desire to postpone the vote so members could read the bill, but was unwilling to put it out of his hands. The House, however, ordered the main question by 85 to 59.

In the Senate, the President's power to appoint Provisional Governors was discussed at length.

Mr. Dixon moved to amend by asking whether President Lincoln had the power, and questioned the terms of the resolution applying to Vice, and acting, President Johnson. Objected to by Mr. Conness.

Mr. Fessenden deprecated the present consideration, and finally the whole matter was tabled.

Excitement in the House.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.

The excitement in the House to day was intense Mr. Stevens, who it is said, had a three column speech on his bill in type, resisted the previous question on the riot Committees bill angrily, but ineffectually, Elliot was anxious to have his bill discussed but was evidently mystified by the rapid proceedings. After every fillibustering motion he wanted to know before the vote, where the proposed action would place his bill. His repeated questions produced laughter. It is feared by the friends of his bill, that the House will get in the habit of laughing at him, and destroy the effect of the closing speech to which Elliott is entitled as chairman of the Committee. The motion to adjourn prevailed, pending the vote on the main question, forced by a Congressman's demanding the reading of the bill which would occupy an hour. The minority are most resolute, and on the republican side there seems to be much dissatisfaction.

Minority Report of the Riot Committee.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.

Bayers report is long and supports by evidence and arguments the versions of the riot which were published at the time and repeated since by the press of New Orleans and the South, concluding that the riot was local, originating in local circumstances, showing that there was no hostility on the part of the community towards the Federal government, so, monstrous as to hold the whole people responsible. The riot was provoked by incendiary speeches. The same course would have led to a riot in any city of the Union. The Conventionists in inciting the negroes, counted first on military and then on Congressional support. It denounces Judge Howell as heeding the conspiracy and then abandoning the conspirators.

The Magruder Case.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.

The District Supreme court decides the Magruder case who after disavowing allegiance to the United States was admitted to practice. He subsequently became a Confederate officer. In extenuation of breaking the oath. Magruder plead that he believed he owed fealty first to his native State and next to the Federal government. This Judge Carter maintained it was sufficient of itself to bar his admission, even if the test oath did not exist.

Frauds at the Custom House in Boston.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.

The committee of investigation of the Custom House frauds at Boston, show doubtful practices, implicating four government officers. Five hundred thousand dollars was compromised for over a hundred thousand, of which only fifty thousand reached the Treasury. The committee say, and insist, that the example thereby exhibited is a dangerous one, and the precedent, if it shall go unchecked and unrebuked, will demoralize if not debauch the whole public service of the country.

For the speedy and certain Cure of Intermittent Fever, or Chills and Fever, Remittent Fever, Chill Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical Headache or Bilious Headache, and Bilious Fever; indeed, for the whole class of diseases originating in biliary derangement, caused by the malaria of miasmatic countries.

This remedy has rarely failed to cure the severest cases of Chills and Fever, and it has this great advantage over other Ague medicines, that it subdues the complaint without injury to the patient. It contains no quinine or other deleterious substance, nor does it produce quinism or any injurious effect whatever. Shaking brothers of the army and the west, try it and you will endorse these assertions.

PERUVIAN GUANO SUBSTITUTE!

BAUGH'S

RAW BONE SUPER-PHOSPHATE OF LIME.

Manufactured under the formula originated in 1854 and patented by

BAUGH & SONS,

SOLE PROPRIETORS, AT THE

Delaware River Chemical Works,

PHILADELPHIA, U. S. A.

This old established MANURE is manufactured from Bones that have not been burned or steamed, and it contains all their original organic matter. It is active in its operation, and is a fertilizer of great durability. It does not exhaust the soil like Peruvian Guano, but on the contrary permanently improves it.

Previous to 1861 it was introduced into the Southern States to considerable extent, and again in 1865, where it has been used with remarkable success upon Cotton, Corn, Tobacco, and all Crops.

A trial will convince any planter of its merits. Pamphlets containing well-known Southern evidence furnished upon application to New York or Philadelphia offices.

Sold by Dealers in all the principal cities and towns throughout the United States and British Provinces.

FERTILIZERS FOR SPRING CROPS.

WE beg to inform the trade and planters of North Carolina and Virginia, that we are prepared to furnish them with the most approved FERTILIZERS, on the most accommodating terms. We will have a stock of genuine PERUVIAN GUANO, purchased direct from the Agent of the Peruvian Government.

We have now in store, for immediate delivery, 225 tons BRADLEY'S SUPER PHOSPHATE OF LIME, which won for itself such an enviable reputation in the Cotton and Tobacco counties of North Carolina and Virginia, last season, proving itself equal, and in many important respects, superior to the Peruvian Guano. We give an analysis of it as ascertained by Dr. Hayes, one of the most eminent Chemists in the country:

Results of Analyses Made of Bradley's Patent Super-Phosphate of Lime, as now sold by Wm. L. Bradley.

100 PARTS CONSIST OF
Moisture	5.20
Prepared animal matter, salts of Ammonia, fatty substances and Humus	38.50
Bone Phosphates of Lime, Magnesia and Iron	36.80
(Soluble Phosphates of do. 16 6-10.)
Sulphate of Lime	16.50
Salts	20
Insoluble	2.60
	99.90

The animal matter afforded 4 2-10 parts of Ammonia when it was decomposed, and, as will be seen, nearly 6 per-half of the Bone Phosphate is soluble.

After many analyses of your Super-Phosphate of Lime, made during the last few months, I have found your standard of quality full equal to that of any you have ever sold in former years; and I am satisfied that you include the correct principles in the manufacture. Respectfully,

A. A. HAYES, M. D., State Assayer.

We refer to the following gentlemen who tested its merits last season:

Having been appointed agent for the above Company, I respectfully call the attention of the citizens of this section of North Carolina, to the fact that this is a Southern Company with an authorized Capital of $500,000. It's business is ably conducted, by influential, reliable and wealthy citizens of Tennessee.

It has the finest references, and has always been exceedingly prompt in its payments, as can be shown by its records, being sustained by wealthy gentlemen.

It takes both Life and Fire risks on terms as low as any Eastern Company.

This Company is just being introduced into its sister State and I hope it will be well patronized.

Let us support and encourage each other and keep all our money at home.

No one is obliged now to go North to get himself or his property insured, as he can be accommodated here by a company of greatest reliability.

HILLSBORO' MILITARY ACADEMY.

THIS well known and popular Institution is once more in successful operation, and is prepared for the reception of Cadets at any time.—It is under the direction of

GEN. R. E. COLSTON,

a graduate, and for fifteen years, (up to the commencement of the war) a

Professor of the Virginia
MILITARY INSTITUTE, and a colleague of
STONEWALL JACKSON,

The course of the Institution is that of the Virginia Military Institute, and is such as to make the Academy a great

POLYTECHNIC SCHOOL.

A school of theoretical and applied science, in which Languages and Literature also receive a due share of attention. The discipline and instructions are on a Complete Military Basis.

The Faculty is for the present organized as follows:

Superintendent and Professor of Military History, Strategy and Political Economy, and Instructor of Infantry and Cavalry tactics, GEN. R. E. COLSTON, late Professor of French, and of Military History, Strategy and Political Economy at the Virginia Military Institute, and late Brig. General C. S. A.

Until the appointment of additional Professors, Gen. Colston takes charge of the Department of French and English studies and Belles Lettres.

Professor of Natural and Experimental Philosophy, Ordnance, Gunnery and instructor of Artillery tactics, Major D. TRUEHEART, Graduate of the Virginia Military Institute in 1850—afterwards Assistant Professor of the Va. Military Institute—attached to the United States Coast Survey—late Major and Chief of Artillery in the C. S. Army.

Professor of Mathematics, Civil and Military Engineering, Architecture, Topographical and Industrial Drawing, and Assistant Instructor of Infantry tactics, Maj. W. A. OBENCHAIN, "first distinguished Graduate," of his Class in the Virginia Military Institute, and for efficient and meritorious services during the war, promoted Captain of Engineers in the late C. S. Army.

Professor of Chemistry, Agricultural Chemistry, Geology and Mineralogy, Col. LLEWELLYN HOXTON, "Distinguished graduate" of West Point Military Academy, and late Chief of Artillery to Hardee's Corps.

Professor of Latin, French, Ethics and Belles Lettres, to be appointed shortly.

Surgeons Drs. E. & W. S. STRUDWICK.

New appointments will be made, and the Chairs now filled will be subdivided as soon as the number of Cadets makes it desirable.

Applicants for Professorships must be gentlemen of Scientific and Military education, who have served in the field.

Candidates for admission as Cadets are advised to come without delay. Until the 1st. of February next, all those Cadets present at the Academy, will be pushed forward in their studies irrespective of classes, so as to enable them, at that time, to enter the most advanced classes for which they may be found qualified.

By coming at once they may gain an entire year in the term of their education.

LIFE INSURANCE.

MANY insure their lives because they see the folly of neglecting to do so. Many who do not insure argue that it is folly to insure. Which is right? If those who do not insure can cite instances of the harm done by a policy of life Insurance, if they can point out men who have lost $5,000 to $100,000 by Life Insurance, then upon proof of same, we must believe them. Hundreds of instances can readily be shown where parties have been benefitted to this extent.—In North Carolina there are some Widows and Children ready to testify to the good resulting from a life Insurance on their only earthly dependence.

The "Ætna Life Co., in loosing $23.000 the past year has relieved want—and now with over $4.000.000 of assets—offers sure protection to all those who will avail themselves of her liberal terms, by calling on 1867. "THE WORLD" 1867.

THE ATTENTION OF THE PUBLIC IS INVITED to the claims of "THE WORLD" as one of the leading public journals of the country. It is the chief organ of the Democratic Party of the United States, and the foremost advocate of the immediate restoration of the Union. Its highest merit consists in its character as An enterprising and Trustworthy Newspaper.

The next year bids fair to be a more critical one in the history of our free institutions, than even any of the eventful ones that have preceded it. The first requisite for an intelligent judgment of public affairs is a full and authentic account of facts as they transpire. These THE WORLD always aims to give with conscientious accuracy, and with equal fullness and fidelity, whether they make for or against its own views of public policy. Prompt activity in spreading before its readers every kind of news in which any part of the public takes an interest, is the first duty of a newspaper, and the facilities of THE WORLD for discharging this obligation are unsurpassed by those of any journal in the United States. Whatever else it may fail in, it certainly will not fail to furnish the news, nor to supply it with such promptitude, spirit, freshness, abundance, variety, accuracy, and candor, that no class of readers can miss anything of interest which they wish to find. THE WORLD will publish documents and arguments prepared by political foes just as freely as those prepared by political friends; making its own comments on them, of course, but never suppressing or garbling them because they are calculated to damage its own party. Adverse arguments which it cannot refute, it is content to leave to make their full impression. THE WORLD adopts this rule because it believes no other is honest; because it conceives that its first duty to its readers is to keep them thoroughly informed on every passing subject of importance.
